As of January 1st 2008 the Tax Administration considers your organisation as an Institution for General Benefit (ANBI).

You have made a request to be considered as an Institution for General Benefit. On the basis of the data that you sent, it is evident that the Tax Administration can consider your organisation as an ecclesiastical, ideological, charitable, cultural or scientific institution, or institution for general benefit.

The consideration is valid for indefinite time, but the Tax Administration can check whether your organisation (still) fulfils the conditions. For this purpose you will receive a Institution for General Benefit Declaration. You are obliged to fill out this form and return it to the Tax Administration.

This decision is based on article 6.33 of the Law on Income Tax 2001 and is valid for as long as you fulfil the conditions of such-like institution.
